

michael shershin & keshine o'young

In the opening of the game the user will be able to choose between 3 gender choices, male, female and unsure. Depending on the gender choice they will be treated differently. During the initial greeting the user then gets to give their name, once they are happy with their name then the game begins.

The map of the game will consist of a few towns and/or cities. The user chooses which city they want to go into. While in the city they will have choices of houses to enter and get information on the mini boss in that area, and people to battle in order to get their moves so they can beat the mini boss.

1. Characters

- a. Main character of yourself
- b. Main rival : metrosexual hipster
- c. Movie characters (5)
- d. Anime characters (5)
- e. Video game characters (5)
- f. Main boss

2. Areas

- a. Main city (Marist)
- b. Movie town
- c. Anime town
- d. Video game town
- e. High end arena where you battle main rival and main boss

The end game will have two scenarios throughout the game you will be prompted to join the “dark side” (need a different name for it). At the end after beating the main boss and main rival they will try to talk you into joining the dark side, joining the dark side will obviously end differently. We may also add a different ending if you get beaten by one of the mini bosses. Most of this is still being worked out.

